was published at Hyderabad in Deccan four years ago: a critical edition, with elaborate indices, of Abū Ja'far Muhammad ibn Ḥabīb al-Baghdādī's Kitāb al-Muḥabbar (752 pp.). The author, who flourished in the ninth century, left posterity in this work (edited from a single MS in the British Museum) an extraordinary cyclopedia of historical knowledge. Though of little intrinsic value it will be very useful, especially because of the editor's industry in providing it with detailed indices.
